Welcome to puppy life

Bringing a puppy home is exciting, exhausting and a little overwhelming. This plan breaks the first month into small daily steps, so you always know what to focus on next.

HOW TO USE THIS PLAN

1. Work through the getting ready pages before your puppy arrives.
2. Each day has one small focus. Five minutes of practice, a few times a day, is plenty.
3. Use the daily log to track toilet trips, meals and naps. Patterns appear quickly.
4. Keep the trackers at the back for vet visits, weight and training.

GOOD TO KNOW

- [ ] Puppies sleep a lot, often 18 hours a day or more.
- [ ] Short training sessions work best: 1–3 minutes.
- [ ] Accidents are normal. Never punish them.
- [ ] Reward what you like, and gently redirect what you don't.
- [ ] Ask your vet about vaccinations, worming and when it's safe to go out.

This plan is general guidance for healthy puppies and isn't a substitute for advice from your vet or a qualified trainer. If you're worried about your puppy's health or behaviour, contact your vet.

NOTES

GETTING READY

The first 24 hours

Keep the first day calm and simple. Your puppy has just left everything they know.

1 Arrival
Take your puppy straight to their toilet spot first. Praise and reward if they go.

2 Explore
Let them explore one room with you. Keep visitors and excitement for another day.

3 Food & water
Offer a small meal of the food they're used to, and fresh water.

4 Sleep
Show them their bed or crate and let them nap as much as they like.

5 Bedtime
Many puppies settle better with their bed near you for the first nights. Take them out for a toilet trip last thing.

6 Night
Expect to get up in the night for toilet trips at first. Keep it quiet and boring, then straight back to bed.

MY NOTES FROM DAY ONE

A day in the life

An example routine for a young puppy. Adjust it to fit your day, and follow your vet's and food's guidance on meals.

EXAMPLE ROUTINE

On waking	Straight outside to the toilet spot
Breakfast	Then a toilet trip
Play & training	5–10 minutes, then toilet
Nap	In the crate or bed
Lunch	Then a toilet trip
Gentle exploring	Then toilet and a nap
Afternoon meal	Then a toilet trip
Play & cuddles	Short and calm
Evening meal	Then a toilet trip
Wind down	A chew or lick mat
Last toilet trip	Then bed

MY PUPPY'S ROUTINE

TIME	WHAT

Toilet trips: take your puppy out after waking, after eating, after playing, and every hour or two while they're awake. Young puppies can't hold on for long.

NOTES

HOW TO

Toilet training

Toilet training takes weeks, not days. Consistency and rewards are what make it work.

Go out often

After waking, eating, playing and every hour or two. Stay with your puppy so you can reward them.

Same spot, same word

Use the same toilet spot and a calm cue like "be quick" while they go.

Reward straight away

Praise and give a treat the moment they finish, outside, not when they come back in.

Watch for signs

Sniffing, circling, whining or heading for the door usually means "I need to go".

Accidents happen

Never shout or punish. Calmly take them outside, and clean the spot with an enzyme cleaner so it doesn't smell like a toilet.

Night-time

Keep night trips quiet and boring. Most puppies gradually manage longer at night as they grow.

WHAT'S WORKING FOR US

HOW TO

Crate and bed training

A crate or pen can be a safe, cosy den, as long as it's always a happy place.

Make it lovely

Soft bedding, a chew, a blanket over the top for a den feel. Leave the door open at first.

Meals in the crate

Feeding meals in or near the crate builds a happy link.

Short and sweet

Close the door for a few seconds while they eat or chew, then open it. Build up slowly.

Never a punishment

The crate should only ever mean good things, never time out.

Sleep and rest

Puppies need lots of sleep. A quiet den helps them switch off.

Not too long

Puppies shouldn't be shut in for long periods. Plan toilet breaks, company and play.

CRATE PROGRESS

DATE	DOOR CLOSED FOR	HOW IT WENT

NOTES

HOW TO

Puppy biting and mouthing

Mouthing is normal puppy behaviour. Your job is to teach gentle mouths and offer better things to chew.

It's normal

Puppies explore with their mouths, and teething makes it worse. It usually eases as they grow.

Redirect

Keep a toy in your hand or pocket and offer it when teeth come out.

Pause the game

If teeth touch skin, calmly stop playing for a moment, then start again with a toy.

Tired puppies bite more

Overtired puppies get nippy. A nap often works better than more play.

Chew menu

Offer a few different safe chews and see which your puppy loves.

Children

Supervise children and puppies together, and teach children to stand still and fold their arms if the puppy gets mouthy.

OUR BEST BITING FIXES

HOW TO

Socialisation

Puppies are most open to new experiences in their first few months. Calm, positive introductions now help your puppy become a confident adult dog.

THE GOLDEN RULES

- [ ] Short and positive every time
- [ ] Let your puppy watch from a distance first
- [ ] Pair new things with treats
- [ ] Never force them to go closer
- [ ] If they seem worried, move further away
- [ ] Quality matters more than quantity

BEFORE VACCINATIONS ARE FINISHED

Ask your vet when it's safe for your puppy to walk in public places and meet other dogs. Until then, you can still socialise safely:

- [ ] Carry your puppy to see the world
- [ ] Invite calm visitors to your home
- [ ] Explore your own enclosed garden
- [ ] Play recordings of everyday sounds
- [ ] Meet dogs you know are fully vaccinated (if your vet agrees)

SIGNS YOUR PUPPY NEEDS A BREAK

Tucked tail, ears back, lip licking, yawning, turning away, freezing, trying to hide. If you see these, calmly move away and try again another day, from further away.
