BEFORE YOU BEGIN

We're so sorry

When someone dies, there's suddenly a long list of things to do, at a time when you can barely think. This guide takes you through it gently, one step at a time.

You don't have to do everything at once, and you don't have to do it alone. Very little needs doing in the first few days. Most of it can wait weeks or months. The next page shows what's urgent and what isn't.

HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

- [ ] Start with "What needs doing, and when"
- [ ] Use the checklists to see what's done
- [ ] Write reference numbers in the logs, so you never have to search for them twice
- [ ] Hand the "How you can help" page to friends who offer
- [ ] Skip anything that doesn't apply

ACROSS THE UK

Some things work differently in England & Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland: registering a death, Tell Us Once, probate (called confirmation in Scotland) and help with funeral costs. Where it matters, the page tells you.

Fees and payment amounts change often, so this guide points you to the official sites rather than quoting figures that may be out of date.

If you're struggling right now, you can call Samaritans free, any time, on 116 123. For bereavement support, call Cruse on 0808 808 1677 (in Scotland, Cruse Scotland on 0808 802 6161).

START HERE

What needs doing, and when

A rough order. Every situation is different, so go at your own pace.

FIRST DAY OR TWO

- [ ] Tell close family and friends
- [ ] Contact a funeral director if you're using one (no need to decide everything yet)
- [ ] Look after anyone who depended on the person, including pets
- [ ] Make sure their home is secure
- [ ] Look for a will, or ask their solicitor if they had one

FIRST WEEK

- [ ] Register the death (within 5 days in England, Wales and NI; 8 days in Scotland)
- [ ] Order several copies of the death certificate
- [ ] Use Tell Us Once to tell government departments (not available in NI)
- [ ] Start planning the funeral
- [ ] Tell their bank (you can use the Death Notification Service)

FIRST MONTH

- [ ] Hold the funeral
- [ ] Tell pensions, insurers, employer, utilities and other organisations
- [ ] Cancel or transfer bills and subscriptions
- [ ] Redirect post and register with the Bereavement Register to reduce junk mail
- [ ] Claim any help with funeral costs or bereavement payments

MONTHS AHEAD

- [ ] Value the estate and apply for probate or confirmation if needed
- [ ] Pay debts, taxes and expenses from the estate
- [ ] Share out the estate as the will says (or under the rules if there's no will)
- [ ] Sort belongings, digital accounts and memorials
- [ ] Look after yourself: grief takes time

NOTES

PART 1

The first days

What happens immediately after a death, and how to register it.

- [ ] What happens first
- [ ] First days checklist
- [ ] Registering the death
- [ ] Information the registrar needs

NOTES

FIRST DAYS

What happens first

This depends on where and how the person died.

If the death was expected at home

Call their GP or the out-of-hours number (111). A doctor or nurse will confirm the death. Then you can call a funeral director, who can come at any time, day or night.

In hospital or a hospice

Staff will guide you through what happens next and tell you when and how the medical certificate will be sent to the registrar. You can usually collect belongings from the bereavement office.

If the death was unexpected

Call 999. The police and paramedics will attend. The death may be reported to a coroner (England, Wales and NI) or the procurator fiscal (Scotland), who may need to find out the cause. This can take longer, but they will explain each step.

The medical certificate

A doctor completes a medical certificate of cause of death. In England and Wales, a medical examiner reviews it first, then the register office will let you know when you can register.

Choosing a funeral director

You don't have to use the first one you speak to, or use one at all. Funeral directors must show their prices, so it's fine to compare. There's a comparison page in Part 3.

If the person died abroad

Register the death in the country where they died, and contact the UK government's foreign travel advice service or the British embassy. Repatriation is usually arranged through a funeral director.

NOTES

FIRST DAYS

First days checklist

Tick off what's done. Leave anything that doesn't apply.

STRAIGHT AWAY

- [ ] Death confirmed by a doctor or nurse
- [ ] Close family told
- [ ] Funeral director contacted (if using one)
- [ ] Dependants and pets cared for
- [ ] Home locked and secure
- [ ]

FIND THESE

- [ ] The will (home, solicitor, bank)
- [ ] Funeral plan or written wishes
- [ ] Birth and marriage certificates
- [ ] NHS number and NI number
- [ ] Passport and driving licence
- [ ] Any "just in case" binder or notes
- [ ]

AT HOME

- [ ] Fridge cleared of fresh food
- [ ] Post collected
- [ ] Valuables kept safe
- [ ] Heating set low (not off in winter)
- [ ] Car kept off the road if uninsured
- [ ]

LOOK AFTER YOU

- [ ] Eat something, and drink water
- [ ] Let someone stay with you
- [ ] Ask for time off work
- [ ] Write things down: you won't remember everything
- [ ]

NOTES

REGISTERING

Registering the death

Every death in the UK has to be registered. The registrar will tell you exactly what you need.

Telling people & organisations

A surprisingly long list. These pages help you keep track of who knows and what they said.

- [ ] Tell Us Once
- [ ] Who to tell
- [ ] Organisations log
- [ ] People to tell

NOTES

TELLING

Tell Us Once

One free service that tells many government departments at once. Your registrar will give you a reference number.

IT CAN TELL

- [ ] HMRC (tax)
- [ ] DWP (State Pension and benefits)
- [ ] HM Passport Office
- [ ] DVLA (driving licence and vehicles)
- [ ] The local council (council tax, Blue Badge, housing benefit, library, electoral register)
- [ ] Some public sector pension schemes
- [ ] Veterans UK

GOOD TO KNOW

Use the reference within 28 days, online or by phone. You'll need the person's details and the names of anyone dealing with their estate.

Northern Ireland: Tell Us Once isn't available. Contact the Bereavement Service (search "nidirect bereavement service") to tell DWP and HMRC together, then contact other departments yourself.

It does not tell banks, private pensions, insurers, utility companies or employers. Use the next pages for those.

Planning the funeral

There's no right or wrong way to say goodbye. These pages help you make the choices and keep track of the details.

- [ ] Funeral options
- [ ] Comparing funeral directors
- [ ] Funeral costs
- [ ] Help with funeral costs
- [ ] Funeral plan and running order
- [ ] Readings, eulogy and condolences

NOTES

FUNERAL

Funeral options

Check whether the person left wishes or a prepaid plan before you decide.

Burial

In a churchyard, cemetery or natural burial ground. You may need to buy a plot. A headstone usually comes months later, once the ground settles.

Cremation

A service at the crematorium or elsewhere, followed by cremation. You can collect the ashes afterwards or ask the funeral director to.

Direct cremation

Cremation without a service, usually at a lower cost. Many families then hold their own memorial or celebration of life at a time and place that suits them.

Natural or woodland burial

Burial in a natural setting, often with a tree or wildflowers instead of a headstone. Usually needs a biodegradable coffin.

Who leads it

A minister or faith leader, a humanist or independent celebrant, or a family member. You can mix religious and personal elements.

Without a funeral director

It's legal to arrange a funeral yourself in the UK, though most families use a funeral director for some or all of it. The local council's bereavement services can explain how.

NOTES

FUNERAL

Comparing funeral directors

Funeral directors must show their prices. Ask for an itemised quote so you can compare like for like.

QUESTIONS TO ASK

- [ ] What's included, and what's extra?
- [ ] Which fees are paid to others (crematorium, cemetery, celebrant)?
- [ ] When do you need payment?
- [ ] Can money come straight from the person's bank?
- [ ] Can we bring our own coffin, flowers or order of service?

DECISION & NOTES

FUNERAL

Funeral costs

Keep track of what's quoted, what's paid and who paid it.

Funeral costs can usually be paid from the estate before other debts. Keep every receipt, and use the "Expenses I've paid" page in Part 4 to claim them back.

NOTES

FUNERAL

Help with funeral costs

Financial help that may be available. Check current amounts and rules on the official sites.

Funeral Expenses Payment

England, Wales and Northern Ireland. For people arranging a funeral who get certain benefits. Covers some costs. Apply within 6 months of the funeral. Search "Funeral Expenses Payment" on GOV.UK (or nidirect in NI).

Funeral Support Payment

Scotland. From Social Security Scotland, for people on certain benefits. Apply within 6 months of the funeral. Search "Funeral Support Payment" on mygov.scot.

Bereavement Support Payment

If your husband, wife or civil partner died and you're under State Pension age, you may get a lump sum and monthly payments. Claim within 3 months of the death to get the full amount.

Children's funerals

In England and Wales the Children's Funeral Fund pays burial or cremation fees for a child under 18. Scotland also covers these fees. Ask your funeral director.

From the person's bank

Many banks will pay a funeral invoice directly from the person's account, even before probate. Ask their bank's bereavement team.

Other help

Check life insurance, funeral plans and workplace death-in-service benefits. Some trade unions, employers, armed forces charities and faith groups also help.

Readings

Four well-loved readings, free to use in your service and order of service.

Remember

CHRISTINA ROSSETTI

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more day by day
You tell me of our future that you planned:
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterwards remember, do not grieve:
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than that you should remember and be sad.

Crossing the Bar

ALFRED, LORD TENNYSON

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea,

But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark;

For tho' from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crost the bar.

Requiem

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

Under the wide and starry sky,
Dig the grave and let me lie.
Glad did I live and gladly die,
And I laid me down with a will.

This be the verse you grave for me:
Here he lies where he longed to be;
Home is the sailor, home from sea,
And the hunter home from the hill.

Death is nothing at all

HENRY SCOTT HOLLAND (EXTRACT)

Death is nothing at all. I have only slipped away into the next room. I am I and you are you. Whatever we were to each other, that we still are. Call me by my old familiar name. Speak to me in the easy way which you always used. Laugh as we always laughed at the little jokes we enjoyed together. Play, smile, think of me. Let my name be ever the household word that it always was. Life means all that it ever meant. Why should I be out of mind because I am out of sight? I am but waiting for you, for an interval, somewhere very near, just around the corner. All is well.

FUNERAL

Writing a eulogy

A eulogy doesn't need to be perfect, or long. Three to five minutes is plenty. Start with stories, not dates.

WHO THEY WERE IN ONE SENTENCE

WHERE THEY GREW UP AND WHAT SHAPED THEM

WORK, PASSIONS AND WHAT THEY WERE PROUD OF

THE PEOPLE THEY LOVED

A STORY THAT MAKES EVERYONE SMILE

WHAT THEY TAUGHT US

Tips: write it out in full and print it in large type. Ask friends for stories. Practise it aloud once. If you can't get through it on the day, it's fine to ask someone to read it for you, or to pause and breathe.

HOW I'LL FINISH

FUNERAL

Cards, flowers & kindness

Note who sent what, so thank-yous are easy later (whenever you feel ready).

NAME	SENT / DID	ADDRESS / CONTACT	THANKED

PART 4

Money & the estate

Sorting out someone's money and belongings is called "administering the estate". It usually takes months, not weeks, and that's normal.

- [ ] Probate and confirmation
- [ ] Executor checklist
- [ ] Assets and debts
- [ ] Accounts tracker
- [ ] Expenses I've paid
- [ ] Home and digital accounts

NOTES

THE ESTATE

Probate & confirmation

The legal permission to deal with someone's money, property and belongings. It isn't always needed.

England & Wales

A grant of probate (if there's a will) or letters of administration (if there isn't), from HM Courts & Tribunals Service. Apply online on GOV.UK. A fee applies for larger estates.

Scotland

A grant of confirmation from the sheriff court. There's a simpler process for small estates, and the sheriff clerk can help if there's no solicitor. See mygov.scot.

Northern Ireland

A grant of probate or letters of administration from the Probate Office in Belfast. See nidirect for how to apply.

YOU MAY NOT NEED IT IF

- ☐ Everything was owned jointly and passes to the other owner
- ☐ The estate is small: each bank sets its own limit, so ask
- ☐ There's no property or land in their sole name

INHERITANCE TAX

Most estates don't pay Inheritance Tax, but the estate still needs to be valued and, in many cases, reported to HMRC. For deaths on or after 6 April 2027, most unused pension funds count towards the estate for Inheritance Tax. Check GOV.UK, or ask a solicitor or accountant if the estate is large or complicated.

NOTES

THE ESTATE

Executor checklist

The person dealing with the estate is the executor (named in a will) or administrator. In Scotland, both are called executors.

1. FIND OUT

- [ ] Find the original will
- [ ] Check for a funeral plan or wishes
- [ ] Find out what they owned and owed
- [ ] Ask each organisation for the value at the date of death
- [ ] Look for old pensions (Pension Tracing Service)

2. PROTECT

- [ ] Tell banks and freeze accounts
- [ ] Tell the home insurer the property is empty
- [ ] Keep valuables safe
- [ ] Stop direct debits that aren't needed
- [ ] Redirect post to you

3. APPLY

- [ ] Value the estate
- [ ] Check Inheritance Tax and report if needed
- [ ] Apply for probate or confirmation
- [ ] Open an executor or estate bank account

4. SETTLE

- [ ] Collect money from accounts and policies
- [ ] Pay funeral costs, debts and bills
- [ ] Sort out final income tax with HMRC
- [ ] Consider placing a deceased estates notice (e.g. The Gazette)
- [ ] Keep a record of every payment in and out

5. SHARE OUT

- [ ] Pay gifts and shares named in the will
- [ ] Get receipts from beneficiaries
- [ ] Prepare simple estate accounts
- [ ] Keep records for at least 12 years

Whether they owned or rented, these jobs keep the property safe while the estate is sorted.

STRAIGHT AWAY

- [ ] Lock up, and collect spare keys
- [ ] Tell the home insurer (cover can change when a home is empty)
- [ ] Take meter readings
- [ ] Set heating to frost protection in winter
- [ ] Redirect or collect post

IF RENTED

- [ ] Tell the landlord or housing association
- [ ] Ask how much notice is needed
- [ ] Agree a date to clear and return keys
- [ ] Ask about the deposit

IF OWNED

- [ ] Tell the mortgage lender
- [ ] Check who owns it (sole or joint)
- [ ] Ask the council about council tax on an empty home
- [ ] Get a valuation for the estate

BELONGINGS

- [ ] Agree with family before anything is shared out
- [ ] Look for items mentioned in the will
- [ ] Keep photos, letters and papers safe
- [ ] Donate, sell or recycle the rest

NOTES

- [ ] About grief
- [ ] Support in the UK
- [ ] How you can help (for friends)
- [ ] Gentle check-in
- [ ] Memories and dates to remember

NOTES

FOR YOU

About grief

There's no right way to grieve. These are things many people find helpful to know.

It comes in waves

Some days feel almost normal, then a song or a smell knocks you sideways. That's grief, not going backwards.

Look after the basics

Try to eat, drink water, get outside and rest, even when you don't feel like it. Small things matter.

Let people help

People often want to help but don't know how. The next-but-one page gives them a list.

Children grieve too

Use clear words like "died" rather than "lost". Children may seem fine one minute and upset the next. Child Bereavement UK and Winston's Wish can help.

Anniversaries and firsts

Birthdays, Christmas and the first anniversary can be hard. It can help to plan something small to mark them.

When to get help

If you're struggling to cope, can't sleep or eat for weeks, or have thoughts of harming yourself, talk to your GP or call Samaritans on 116 123.
