Make your pocket books

Each pocket book is 32 A6 pages (about the size of a postcard). Print at home in about ten minutes, or ask a print shop to make them for you.

PRINT AT HOME: THE PRINT-AT-HOME-A4 FILE

1. Print double-sided
   Choose A4 paper (100–120gsm is ideal), actual size / 100%, and flip on long edge. US Letter paper works too: choose "fit to page".
2. Cut each sheet in half
   Cut across the middle at the small grey marks. Keep the halves in the order they printed: top half, then bottom half.
3. Stack
   Put the half with the front cover on top, cover side facing up. Put each next half underneath the pile, in print order.
4. Fold and staple
   Fold the whole pile in half so the front cover is on the outside. Check page 1 is the cover, then staple twice along the fold (a long-arm stapler helps) or sew with thread.
5. Trim (optional)
   Trim the three open edges with a craft knife or guillotine for a neat, full-colour edge.

AT A PRINT SHOP: THE A6-PAGES FILE

- [ ] Send the A6-pages PDF
- [ ] Ask for: A6, 32 pages, saddle-stitched (stapled), colour
- [ ] Optional: a heavier paper for the cover
- [ ] Most shops can do this the same day

TIPS

- [ ] Print one test copy first
- [ ] Colours look richer on matte paper
- [ ] Make a set: one of each colour
- [ ] Refill any time: just print another
